

An HNSW index trades exact nearest neighbor results for approximate ones that are dramatically faster to query.

Recall can be tuned at query time with `ef_search`;
higher values scan more of the graph and return better neighbors.